* What is Graphene and Far-infrared?

Graphene is a flat film consists of carbon atoms, the lightest and thinnest new nano-material with incredible hardness and toughness. Graphene provides even surface heating and is safe and comfortable. Wavelength of the far-infrared radiation generated by the graphene heating film when it is in operation is similar to the far-infrared wavelength of the human body at 6-14 μm .

When radiations with the same wavelength interact, a resonance effect is generated. When the biological cells are in resonance, the far-infrared heat can penetrate deep into the tissues, causing blood capillaries to dilate and hence promote blood circulation, boost tissue metabolism, increase cell regeneration, and strengthen the body's immunity, leading to better overall health

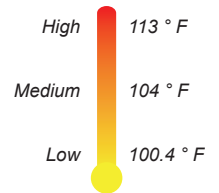

Easy to Use With Convenient Features

Easy to operate controller lets you switch between 3 heat settings: High (113 ° F) Medium (104 ° F) Low (100.4 ° F)

One hour auto shutoff feature helps you conserve energy and prevents excessive heating.

Adjustable flexible Velcro tape provides up to 45 inches length. Powered by DC 5V-2A Power Bank (not Included).

Use an USB cable extender (not included) to extend the reach of the standard USB cable attached to the belt.

Advanced Technology

The FIR Heating Pad Belt uses Graphene Heating Film as a thermal conductor to provide safe and fast heating in seconds for pain relief.

Soothe Aches With FAR Infrared Heat Therapy

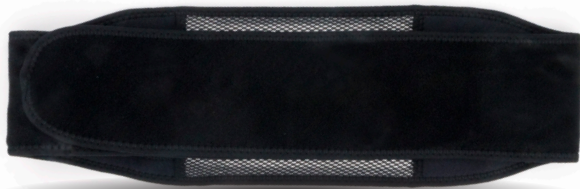

Ease everyday muscle aches and pains with the latest advanced Graphene Far Infrared (FIR) heating technology.
